Temecula Hills Winery A Vintners Tale

It all started in 1999 with a family wine making competition at Christmas. We had so much fun we thought another competition was in order for the following Christmas. Steve's pineapple wine was so good we decided... well, obviously you see what happened by the third Christmas!

Steve selected a patch of dirt on our steep, windy ridge. Paying special attention to soil conditions, wind direction and special root stalks, he carefully planted each vine. Nurturing his crop until it was just right, he hand picked every grape from our terraced slopes.

Blending centuries-old techniques with modern wine making improvements, Steve allowed each wine to develop its own unique varietal character.

Hard to believe that 7 years ago our wine-making hobby turned into a business. Then in 2006 we moved our home winery of Temecula Hills to our new Oak Mountain Winery building closer to our fellow wineries in town. There have been numerous changes to both the building and the size of our endeavor but something has not changed...it is our desire to provide the best quality of both product and service to the many friends who pass through our doorway. We are now producing about 6,500 cases of wine a year and the original six varietals with which we started in 2000 has grown to 24.
